

Harrison Prep's Learner Profile for November: Principled

We act with integrity and honesty, with a strong sense of fairness and justice, and with respect for the dignity and rights of people everywhere. We take responsibility for our actions and their consequences.

How can adults help develop students to be PRINCIPLED at home? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Involve your student in deciding on the rules for a game or activity and then ensure that they comply with those rules. • Encourage your student to play games that involve teams. • Discuss with your student the qualities of a team player. What sort of person would they want on their team? • When your student wins a game insist that he or she is a well-mannered winner. They might thank their opponent or shake hands with them if appropriate. • When playing a game, don't change rules or let your student win. Being a gracious loser is just as important as being a good winner. 	Reflect on the questions below and share responses with a peer or adult at home: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Do I always try to do what is right, even when it's costly or difficult? • Do I live up to the highest ethical standards? • Do we take responsibility for what goes on in our community? • Do we do our part for the common good? • Do we help take care of the environment? • Do we participate in community service? • Do we make decisions without favoritism? • Do we do the right thing even when no one is looking and we are guaranteed to not get caught?
